Submission: The scrapping of the $2.50 is very unfair for families that would make an event of travelling on a Sunday.

I have 3 kids and the proposal to increase the daily cap to $7.20 makes it simply unaffordable for a family to travel on public transport on the Sunday for a family day out.

We live on the northern beaches and would use the Sunday $2.50 fare to take the kids on a ferry ride and train ride into town.

With the proposed fare increases it would prove more affordable to actually get back in the car and take my family into town.
