

To: IPART

Re: Maxi-Taxi fare review

Having just heard that IPART is attempting to impede the liberty of Maxi-Taxi drivers to charge for their services some reasonable surcharge. Having just used a Maxi-Taxi to move houses, let me just state that paying a surcharge is still the cheapest way I still better than:

- renting a utility-wagon,
- hiring a removalist.

So I would seriously suggest not to restrict the discretion of drivers to charge extra for extra services. Otherwise, where is the attraction for drivers to go out of their way and deliver extraordinary services.

Hauke Priesmeyer

P.S. I herewith state that I was not forced/influenced/intimidated in any way to sign this.