

I have just watched you on television commenting about the 20 per cent rise in electricity costs and I saw you say that it won't be a problem for people to pay the increase.

How would you know – did you ask anyone?

Green slips up 14 per cent and now this and you say it won't be a problem.

You're arrogant and a clown – people are doing it tough and that's the best you can come up with!
