

15/03/2006 03:48 PM

Proposed fare rise

To Whom It May Concern

My understanding is that the KPIs for State Rail have not been met (since the fare rise was proposed several years ago) so how can a fare rise be justified?

On time running is still not right; in fact, often a train has left earlier (up to 2 mins) than timetable schedules.

While I appreciate nothing is perfect in this world, City Rail has a lot more work to do before it even reaches a reasonable benchmark of 75%.

Please don't raise the fares; it just cannot be justified.

Sincerely

Bobbie Bory