

Eric Ranson >
29/03/2006

Fare increases for Citirail

I travel from Wollongong to Sydney for work during the week and would like to use the trains occasionally on the weekend.

The big issue is service

Service can only be maintained with patronage.

Patronage will only suffer with fare increases - particularly at a time when services are unreliable and are openly being downgraded in order to improve published statistical results.

If you intend to continue to raise fares and downgrade services, I would prefer to know now so that I can join the majority on the inefficient roads.

Eric Ranson