

16/03/2006 12:34 PM

Rail Fare increases

Trains are not running on time even with the allowed 6minutes (which is ridiculous), the service is dreadful and really has not improved.

How on earth could consideration be given to increasing prices without first providing a first rate service.

I am also concerned that the Government is considering adding a distance fee to the 4 allowed country link train trips for pensioners. This will make it impossible for many who are struggling to be able to make use of the free trips offered to pensioners.

All I can say is lots of gray hairs vote at elections and change this and many will be voting accordingly.

Helen Telfer