And yet another train cancelled.

Yep thats right they cancelled the 7.21 am from Minto on Friday 24th March 2006 again.

That's the same service cancelled three times this week.

And its bad enough that we get late and cancelled trains going into work, its just as inconvenient when they are stuffed up on the way home.

Fortunately for the SRA, I haven't bothered to keep as much track of those inconveniences as I have of the ones that have the potential to cost me my job.

I do hope you get my message and those of other commuters absolutely loud and clear.

Forget about your fare increases, stop rewarding bureaucrats for getting nothing right. And until all politicians start using public transport instead of their bloody taxpayer funded Chauffeur-driven cars they should hang their heads in shame all the way up to the next State Election.
