

Richard Langford
27/03/2006

Proposed rail fare increases.

To Whom it may concern,

RailCorp's submission for a fare increase should NOT be granted.

The rail service has NOT improved to any extent that a fare increase is warranted.

John Watkins has no idea the extent of the frustration that rail passengers have wrt CityRail.

Commuters are fed up however how can one travel to work to the city unless by rail as the roads are congested to an unbelievable state what with road closures and the cross city tunnel not to mention the main roads into the city choked to unmentionable ways.

Richard Langford