

17 October 2008

As a regular passenger on cityrail as the only suitable transport to the city I oppose the amount of the increase because the trains on the bankstown line are too old and are often not air conditioned. The increase is well above the inflation rate and what comparison has been made with other rail services in Australia or overseas?

Archie Mclean