

To Whom it may Concern,

I am writing in relation to the proposed fare increase to the Sydney buses.

As a regular bus users I feel an increase to the current bus fares is unreasonable given the current state of services. I live in the upper Northern Beaches and am often made to stand for a great deal of my journey, at least 35min often longer, due to over crowing of single buses on routes which quite simply require bendy buses.

Perhaps if the service was reliably serviced by modern buses appropriate for the requirements of the residents an increase would be warranted, but as this is not yet the case I would like my opposition to the increase noted.
